Image Safezones

Our website is responsive to show more or less of the image, adapting to display areas as best fit on different devices.

We have safe zones to help illustrate how you should lay out your image. This means that according to the device being used, your image will appear slightly different. If you resize this browser window on a desktop, you can see how the image adapts to different widths.

To ensure your image sits correctly on the webpage, please ensure you are observing the safezones and that your main image does not use text.

Safe zone 1 (pink)

- Safe zone 1 is always visible no matter which device is used.
- Ensure focal point of image (and title treatment if applicable) are within this zone.

Safe zone 2 (green)

- Safe zone 2 has more visibility on tablet and mobile devices and reduced visibility of desktop (apart from section where zone 1 and 2 overlap).
- Add other aspects of image to this zone eg. background.
- Do not place any text within this zone as there is a very high chance it will not display and parts of the text will appear cut off.

Note

- Mobile devices display almost all of the original 1920x1200 image.
- Generally mobile usage is higher than desktop/tablet usage on our website.

Best practice hints/tips

- Design your image with main focal point in Safe Zone 1.
- Have secondary focal point and background in Safe Zone 2.
- Carry on background to the rest of the image (this is displayed for those users with large desktop screens).
- Do not have any text on your image

Tips for Writing Engaging Show Copy for the Web

Identify your audience and write specifically for them!

Think about what would appeal to your target audience about your show and highlight this in your copy.

Keep it accessible.

Avoid the use of jargon or overly complicated language that may alienate potential ticket buyers.

Include a compelling opening line to hook the people in!

The most exciting and important information should be at the top of the page to grab the attention of a ticket buyer.

Refer to your show in the third person.

E.g. "The Theatre Company is delighted to announce the premiere of..."

Keep the paragraphs short and ensure there are lots of line breaks.

When reading in a web environment, people will scan a page of text. Breaking your text up will make it more 'scannable' for web visitors.

Don't include calls to action in the body copy.

This is your chance to sell your show, so concentrate on writing strong copy. Calls to action, including a 'Buy now' button, and additional information will be available to patrons on other parts of the web page.

Please note all web content is subject to the Trust's style guide. The Trust reserves the right to edit show copy to ensure correct grammar and spelling. Under our Venue Hire Agreement, ACT reserves the right to make amendments and corrections. To view a sample webpage written in the Trust's style, please see here.

Additional Signage Options

Internal projection

We have three projectors available - one above the Studio Underground bar projecting onto the east end wall, one located at the base of the main staircase facing west and one at the top of the stairs on level 2.

Please note, because of our wall type, certain projections may not display in the correct colour. These projection surfaces work best with logos, company signage, short promo reel (no audio), fixed image. Please format projection footage in 4:3 standard ratio.

Floor Decals

Floor decal space is available on Roe Street and William Street for event related or directional signage. Sizing may vary, however 500mm x 400 mm is standard.

Bollard Covers

There are several bollard cover opportunities available around the exterior of the venue. Designs need to be printed in 750 x 1300mm, digital print covers printed onto 5mm flute, trim & score to shape, face size - 235 x 1300mm with interlocking tabs.

Display Boxes

Four display boxes are available throughout the venue. They are 880mm high by 880mm wide by 300mm deep. These can be used for merchandise, museum display or other informational displays regarding your event.

All additional signage and collateral display is at the discretion of the venue.

We are always happy to discuss further venue activation and signage options for your event, for more information or to enquire about availability contact stcwa@artsculturetrust.wa.gov.au.

Print Collateral Display

The Trust can display DL, A5 and A4 printed booklets and flyers at all ACT Box Offices.
